

The RMCLC Summer Internship Program – Combined Position

First and second-year law students are encouraged to apply for summer internship positions at the Rocky Mountain Children's Law Center. Our Summer Internship Program is designed to expose committed and talented public interest law students to all aspects of legal advocacy for abused, neglected and trauma-exposed children. Students will have the opportunity to work on projects spanning the Law Center's Caregiver Advocacy, Education, Young Adult Legal Assistance, and Youth Empowerment Programs. Past volunteer or career-related experience in family law, special education, civil legal services (tenant rights and eviction, identification, government assistance, expungement, and discrimination), or juvenile law matters is useful, but not essential.

Interns will be responsible for various legal research and writing assignments, as dictated by the needs of the Children's Law Center's attorneys. Interns will also have opportunities to attend court and observe legal proceedings. Other experiences may include assisting in witness and trial preparation, drafting motions, researching novel legal issues, or meeting with clients. Second-year law students may also have the ability to participate in court hearings under the Student Practice Act.

Students applying for a summer internship program should send a cover letter, current resume, law school transcript, and writing sample. Qualified applicants will then be selected to begin the interview process. Applicants are encouraged to examine the Children's Law Center's website so that they have a full understanding of our mission and needs.
